Ortivus concludes transaction – divestiture of North American subsidiaries

Ortivus AB has transferred ownership of the North American subsidiaries to the buyer TriTech Software Systems, received the purchase price and paid off the legal costs related to the transaction. The transaction has been concluded.

“The transaction means that months of work now have been concluded and that Ortivus now with full strength can focus on the core business – i.e. to offer solutions based on the Company’s unique competence in mobile solutions, IT and medical technique in combination with clinical knowledge focused on heart monitoring and pre-hospital care. We can now with full attention continue the work to ensure that the patients receive correct medical treatment and competence throughout the whole care process – i.e. develop decision support systems for all care givers in a process that starts already in the ambulance”, says CEO Jan B Andersson.
